RELIGIOUS FORUM

By Howard Daulton

"Walking With God"
The sound of this theme is pleasing to the ear. The desire for it springs from every heart. The hope for a future abode with God rests with every soul.

The factors of "sowing and reaping" stand before us as sturdy as a mountain. Before this ultimate goal of a home with God can be reached, we must sow a few good seeds on this earth.

In reading the fifth chapter of Genesis, it gives the feeling of walking through a cemetery. Character after character was born, lived so many years, begot sons, and died. Suddenly in the 24 verse we see a happy statement, "Enoch walked with God and he was not; for God took him." This short history of Enoch is a glorious one. It portrays greater significance than any long military or political career. Enoch fulfilled his desires and God's demands. After his life of 300 years of happy service with God, he was translated so that he should not see death.

Our life span today is not 300 years. Even if it were, and we spent all the days walking with God, it would be as one golden circling sun.

Bringing this subject through the pages of time from the antediluvian age to the present, it still has its desires, effects, and rewards.

FORMER STUDENT IS MAKING SUCCESS

Carolyn Anderson, former student of Morehead State Teachers' College during the summer of '29-'30, majoring in Geography under Miss Catherine L. Brian, prepares the visual aids for the Geography broadcast of the American School of the Air (C. B. S.), broadcast every Wednesday at 1:15 P. M. C. S. T.

Miss Anderson is a graduate of the State Teachers' College of Indiana, Pennsylvania. She was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary society. She is now teaching in the Penn Township Schools in Pennsylvania.

Higher accomplishments have never been reached in our present life, than a close walk with God. This walk is not impossible today. In fact, God invites every college man and woman to His holy calling and walk through a Christian life with Him. The longer the span of this walk, the greater will be our accomplishments in this life plus a greater reward in the world to come.

"Holidayitis"

Katy! Let me carry those grips. Did you have a nice vacation?
"Oh, so-so. Did you?"
"Yeah, but I'm glad to be back. Too much play makes Jack a play-boy, you know."
They are glad to be back, and they dig down to work seriously. Vacations are nice, but too much vacation is bad as too much work. Had I have! Just think! We have six more weeks before vacation. Can I stand it! Oh-yeah!

Question: "Do you think that picture shows are having a good or bad influence on youth?"

"Mrs. Opal Dix, Junior, Louisville, Ky., 'Unquestionably, much harm is done by allowing children to see exciting and sensational moving pictures. But this condition need not exist. Most films are carefully censored and are classified as to their suitability for juvenile and adult audiences. If this information were given due consideration by parents and guardians of children, moving pictures might become one of our most powerful educational influences.'"

Ruby Smith, Junior, Carter Co., Ky.: "Some picture shows have a bad effect on youth. Some of the young people are easily influenced and led by things which they see in pictures; while others are able to resist such influences even though the pictures may not be wholesome."

Tempe Korne, Junior, Fullerton, Ky.: "Pictures, from my point of view, are unusually good influences. They portray occurrences of present day events."
